Written by ramadan Wednesday, 24 June 2015 20:57 - Last Updated Saturday, 11 July 2015 11:58

TAFSEER OF SURAH YUSUF

LECTURE 3: THE ARABIC QURAN AND WHY THE STORY OF YUSUF (a.s) IS THE BEST STORY

By: Mowlana Syed Aftab Haider Delivered at Ahlul Bait (a.s) Islamic Centre, Ottery, Cape Town Ramadaan 1436/2015

REASON FOR SENDING DOWN AN "ARABIC" QURAN

Written by ramadan

Wednesday, 24 June 2015 20:57 - Last Updated Saturday, 11 July 2015 11:58
After discussing the "sending down" of the Quran, we discuss the remainder of verse 2 of the Surah, the complete verse being:
"Indeed We have sent it down as an Arabic Quran that you might understand."
The Quran is a demonstration of a "Truth" which is with Allah. The beginning of Surah Zuhruf confirms this when it says:
"Ha Meem! By the clear Book. Indeed we have made it an Arabic Quran that you might understand. And indeed it is in the Mother of the Book With Us, Exalted and full of Wisdom."
Thus there is the idea of the "Mother" Book which is with Allah, while the Quran which is with us could figuratively be considered to be the "Child."

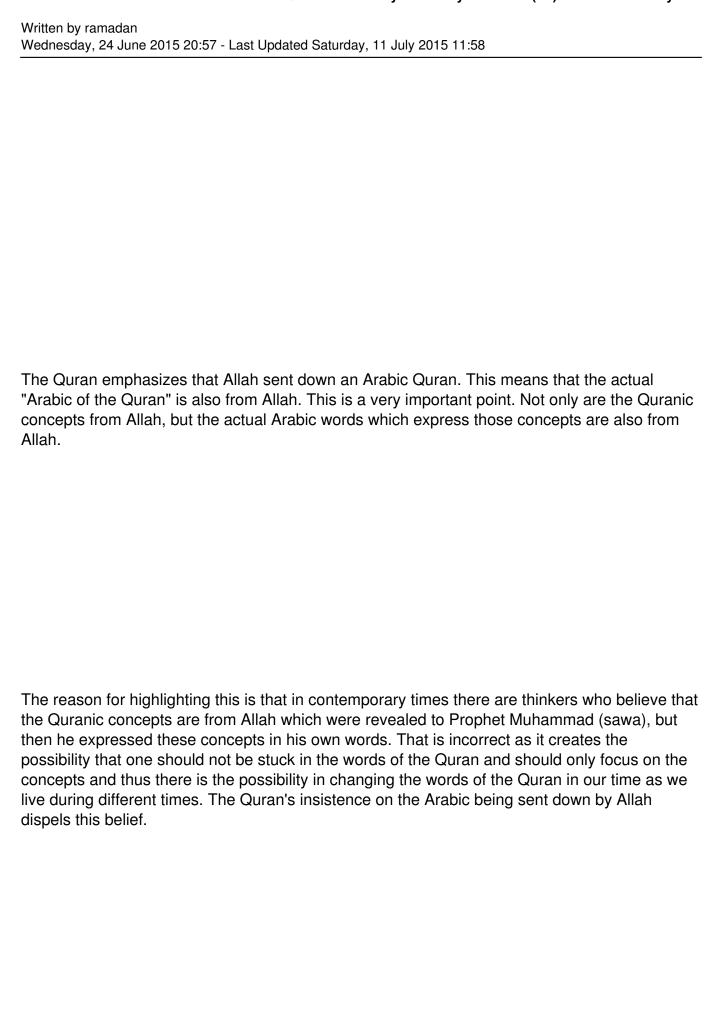

Written by ramadan Wednesday, 24 June 2015 20:57 - Last Updated Saturday, 11 July 2015 11:58 The "Truth" of the Quran has an extremely Elevated Status that we cannot reach and thus comes down to our level and must thus be transformed into a language which serves as a medium of communication and that language is Arabic. If you should ask "what is the language of the Quran", then the answer is that in relation to the "Truth" of the Quran which is with Allah, that "Truth" is beyond any language. WHY SPECIFICALLY THE ARABIC LANGUAGE?

The question may arise that if the Quran is considered to be a Book of Guidance to all mankind and is a global message which is not confined to Arabs, then why was it revealed in Arabic and not in another human language?

Wednesday, 24 June 2015 20:57 - Last Updated Saturday, 11 July 2015 11:58
Though it must again be emphasized that the "Truth" of the Quran is beyond language, there are various reasons for the Quran which was sent down to be in Arabic:
1. The very first audience that the Quran addressed were Arabic speaking and thus they needed to understand it. If the Quran was in Hebrew they would not have understood, or any other language for that matter.
2. The Arabic language has a sort of preference over other languages as it is a very rich and comprehensive language that has the best capacity to convey a message. To demonstrate this you can look at the area of the "meaning" of certain words and may find that sometimes one single word in Arabic can have 72 different meanings. Example the word "ain" means "eye" or "spy" or "stream", etc.
Sometimes in Arabic you can express something in one or two words while in another language you may require a few sentences to convey the same meaning. After using a whole paragraph,

Written by ramadan Wednesday, 24 June 2015 20:57 - Last Updated Saturday, 11 July 2015 11:58 you may find that you still did not capture the essence of the Arabic meaning. And when having more sentences, you actually expose yourself to contaminating the meaning further simply due to the presence of too many additional words. Sometimes something can be expressed in Arabic that simply cannot be easily expressed in another language. Thus Imam Baqir (a.s) is reported to have said: "Arabic has the capacity to manifest something simply while you cannot do it in any other way."

CONTEMPORARY DEBATES ON QURAN

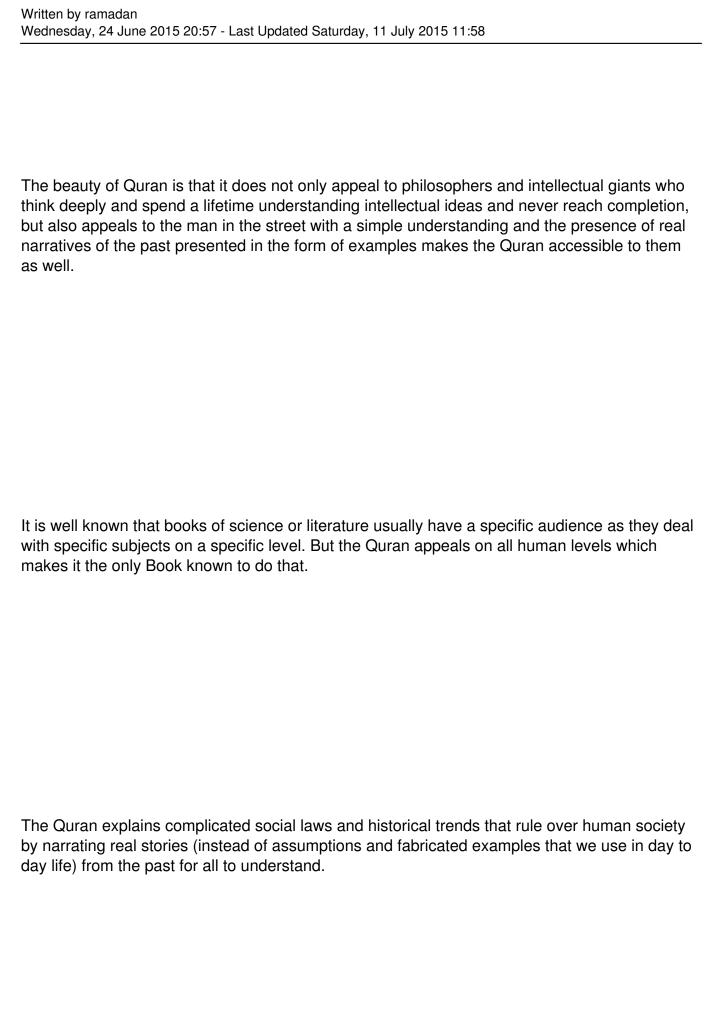

Written by ramadan Wednesday, 24 June 2015 20:57 - Last Updated Saturday, 11 July 2015 11:58

Concepts that are revealed onto the heart of the Prophet (sawa) and then expressed in his own words are considered to be "Hadith Qudsi" which we always say are Allah's words revealed to the Prophet (sawa). But in actual fact they are Allah's concepts expressed in the Prophet (sawa)'s words. And thus there is a difference between hadith Qudsi and Quran, even though both are commonly attributed to Allah.

WHY THE QURAN NARRATES STORIES

It is a continuous feature of the Quran that it narrates stories. The reason for continuous narration of stories of past generations including those of good and evil people is due to our human nature to understand principles and ideas more easily when examples are used to demonstrate a point. This is a common feature of the day to day educational process and when we not only teach dry theories.

Written by ramadan Wednesday, 24 June 2015 20:57 - Last Updated Saturday, 11 July 2015 11:58
WHY PROPHET YUSUF (a.s)'s STORY IS THE BEST STORY
When you look at the stories of Prophets, the key message we have in virtually all of them is the struggle against injustice, oppression and despotic rulers like Phirown, Nimrud, etc.
But in the case of Prophet Yusuf (a.s), his main fight is not mainly against a despotic ruler, but rather his main opponent is the Jihad against one's nafs. This Jihad is against the inner shaytaan of "jealousy", "lust", "desire for power", etc. These are all personal experiences of Prophet Yusuf (a.s) and thus Verse 53 says "Indeed the soul is a persistent enjoiner of evil, except those upon which my Lord has Mercy."

Written by ramadan Wednesday, 24 June 2015 20:57 - Last Updated Saturday, 11 July 2015 11:58
Since the Jihad in this story is against one's nafs, the story of Prophet Yusuf (a.s) is considered the "Best Story."
Furthermore, this story has a very beautiful ending and has no loser as:
1. Prophet Yusuf (a.s) reaches a position of power;
2. Prophet Ya'koob (a.s) gets his son back and his eyesight is restored;
3. The brothers of Yusuf (a.s) repent and their repentance is accepted;
4. Egypt goes through drought and reaches happy times under the governance of Prophet Yusuf (a.s).

